This week's key question:

How important is it to know about the author behind a book?

It's been another busy week at Roby Mill with our Reception pupils loving reading Funny Bones and linking their learning to the book. They have also been busy in phonic and have started to learn some sounds. Key Stage One have been learning about the Great Fire of London in History and worked hard on ordering events on a timeline. Key Stage Two have been enjoying learning about the artist Frida Kahlo and have started their own self-portraits.

There will be a slavery exhibition on at church from Monday 14th October until Sunday 27th October. The exhibition is free and open to all. To link with our current History topic, we are taking our Year 5 and 6 pupils to the exhibition on Thursday 17th October. Letters to those pupil will be sent out next week.

As the weather is getting colder please ensure all children bring a warm coat to school to allow them to go outside at break times. Can you please ensure that all pupils have a warm outdoor kit for PE (blue or black tracksuit).

Harvey's Mum is taking part in a 4 hour Combatathon for Barnardo's . A QR code to donate can be found opposite.
